

Precious As A New-Born Baby – carol with actions.

Adapted from 'Promise' by Jilly Jarman, for Beaconside Christmas Show 2007 as part of Vocal Union project. New words by Jen Ellin. Actions by Beaconside Juniors

WORDS

ACTIONS

People listen to what we say,

Point at the audience with both hands on "people", Hands up by ears on "listen" then hands come down from mouth towards the audience.

You are all precious in your own special way.

Point at the audience then rock arms as if holding a baby.

Take his love and spread it far and wide.

Both hands on heart then open them out towards the audience.

Care for each other and feel good inside.

Hands high on "care", bring them down slowly to hug yourself.

Halleluya he is here today.

Hands high on "Hallelulia" and wave them from side to side.

Making his mark in his own special way.

Right hand in fist held over chest, pulse 3 times on 'Making his mark'. Open arm out towards the audience on 'Own special way'.

Finding his place, growing day by day.

Leading with right arm lean to the right on 'Finding his place', repeat on left on 'growing day by day'.

All we have to do is remember his words today

Both arms move upwards slowly, beat the rhythm of 'remember' with hands.

Especially today

What he has to say

Especially today

What he has to say

He says:

it doesn't matter!

Where you come from

It doesn't matter who you are

'Cause with my love so fierce and my love so strong

You'll always know where you belong

You're precious as a new-born baby

Special as the day you're born

You're precious as a new born baby,

Special as the day you're born.
